IMPORTANT FENIAN DEMONSTRATION IN LONDON.

Trade Union Square Filled with Enthusiasts Penans Demand for the Liberation of the Prisoners—Resolutions Calling for Unconditional Pardon.
 LONDON, Sept. 20.—The demonstrations in favor of the imprisoned Penans were the event to-day. Processions were formed in Clerkenwell, and with bands of music and bearing flags and banners they marched in perfect order under Trade Union Square, a meeting was organized. Six thousand persons participated. George Henry Moore, member of Parliament for Mayo, presided. He condemned the English Government for the prolonged incarceration of political offenders, contrasted its conduct in this respect with that of other States in Europe and America, and concluded that England could be compared with Russia only. He hoped that the British people would no longer tolerate the imprisonment of political prisoners, and demanded the liberation of the prisoners as a matter of justice. Mr. Bradburn and others followed in the procession.

DUBLIN, Sept. 30.—The Irishman to-day says that no terms for Ireland will be acceptable without the release of the Fenians. It is the verdict of the Irish people that England must set these men free or avow that her promise of a better government for Ireland is a lie.

Heads Level in England and France.
LONDON, Sept. 20.—I am assured from well-informed sources of authority that the Governments of England and France have, after diplomatic consultation, come to the conclusion that the status quo of governmental and executive relations existing between Turkey and Egypt must be maintained.
It has been settled, also, between the same two leading powers, that there shall be no interference from this side between Spain and the United States in the present Egyptian revolution and American diplomacy in Madrid.

The recovery of the Emperor of the French has caused a lull in the fiery debate which had been between the party of the Empress and the friends of Prince Napoleon. The rivalry already displayed by each faction gives a foretaste of what is in store for France on the death of the Emperor.

The Red-Hot Boys of the Seventh Ward.

The Richard Walters' junketeers held a very large and enthusiastic meeting last evening at their rooms, 114 East Broadway. Capt. James O'Donnell, in the chair. The boys are awake and determined that the Old Seventh shall be redeemed from the clutches of the political ruffians who have so long controlled it. A list of names of the ward's worthies was presented, showing that they too are awakened.
